

Allison Bond Biography

Allison Bond has been a committed member of the BC public service for more than 35 years. Allison started her career as a research officer and was first appointed Assistant Deputy Minister in 1999 and Deputy Minister in 2017. Allison has held positions in a number of sectors and taken on a variety of challenges, always committed to do better for British Columbians. Allison's portfolios have spanned land and resource management, First Nations negotiations, program transformation, public consultation and engagement, social sector service delivery and more. Allison is excited to learn about RBCM and to bring her collaborative, committed leadership style to this work.

Over the course of her career, Allison has been the recipient of the IPAC Lieutenant Governor's Silver Medal for Excellence in Public Service, Premier's Awards and won a national service delivery award in 2011 for her work leading the Homelessness Intervention Project.

Allison received an undergraduate degree in French Literature from Mount Allison University, a Law Degree from the University of Victoria and a Master's in Law from McGill University.